

Disclaimer

DocShah Financial, LLC (“DocShah Financial”) is a Registered Investment Advisor (“RIA”) registered in the state of Maryland. DocShah Financial provides four primary services: financial planning, investment management, portfolio review, and seminars for clients nationally, subject to registration requirements. DocShah Financial will file and maintain all applicable licenses as required by the state securities administrator. DocShah Financial renders individualized responses to persons in a particular state only after complying with the state’s regulatory requirements, or pursuant to an applicable state exemption or exclusion.

This website is intended to provide general (nonspecific to any individual) information about DocShah Financial. The content provided on this website is for informational purposes only and should not be construed as personalized investment advice or as an offer to buy or sell any securities or investment products nor is it intended to create a client-advisor relationship. Investment advice will only be given after a client engages our services by executing the appropriate investment services agreement, and shall be subject to the terms and conditions therein.

Information regarding investment products and services are provided solely to read about our investment philosophy, our strategies and to be able to contact us for further information. You should not rely on any information provided on our web site in making investment decisions.

The content on this website may include opinions or views of DocShah Financial or its employees, which are subject to change without notice. It should not be considered as financial, legal, or tax advice. Clients and potential clients are encouraged to seek professional advice from their own financial, legal, or tax advisors before making any investment decisions. Investing in securities involves risks, and past performance is no guarantee of future results. The value of investments may fluctuate, and investors may lose some or all of their investment.

Market data, articles, and other content on this web site are based on generally available information and are believed to be reliable. DocShah Financial does not guarantee the accuracy, completeness, or timeliness of the information contained on this web site. DocShah Financial disclaims any liability for errors or omissions. The information is of general nature and should not be construed as investment advice and relied upon in making investment decisions. This site may contain links to third-party websites or social media platforms. DocShah Financial is not responsible for the content, accuracy, or security of external sites.

DocShah Financial will provide all prospective clients with a copy of our current Form ADV, Part 2 (“Brochure”) before commencing an Advisory Relationship. Existing clients will receive copies on an annual basis. However, at any time, you can view our current Form ADV, Part 2 on our website. In addition, you can contact us to request a copy.

By using this website, you acknowledge and agree to the terms of this disclaimer. DocShah Financial reserves the right to modify, update, or remove any part of this website or this disclaimer at any time without prior notice.

If you have any questions or concerns about this disclaimer or the content on this website, please contact us at raul@docshahfinancial.com

Additional Disclaimers

Investment Risks and Disclaimers:

Past Performance Disclaimer:

"Past performance is not indicative of future results. The value of investments and the income they generate can fluctuate, and investors may not recover their initial investment.

Market Volatility Warning:

Investing in securities involves inherent risks, including the potential for market volatility. Prices of investments may rise or fall due to various factors, and there is no guarantee of positive returns.

Diversification Notice:

Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against losses in declining markets.

Asset Class Risks:

Different asset classes, such as stocks, bonds, and alternative investments, carry distinct risks. Each asset class may react differently to economic and market conditions.

Currency and International Risks:

Investing in foreign securities involves additional risks, including currency fluctuations, political and economic uncertainties, and different accounting standards.

Sector-Specific Risks:

Investing in specific industry sectors may expose investors to risks associated with those sectors, such as regulatory changes or shifts in consumer preferences.

Forward-Looking Statements:

Any forward-looking statements or projections in this email are speculative and subject to change. Actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied in such statements.

Each individual is responsible for all of these risks and any other not specifically stated in this document.

Please Note: Limitations

The achievement of any professional designation, certification, degree, or license, recognition by publications, media, or other organizations, membership in any professional organization, or any amount of prior experience or success, should not be construed by a client or prospective client as a guarantee that he/she will experience a certain level of results or satisfaction if DocShah Financial is engaged, or continues to be engaged, to provide investment advisory services. Registration with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission or any state securities authority does not imply a certain level of skill or training.